

Legislature Rushes to Adjourn

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—Any one can do it if he knuckles down and tries.

One can get along without television, I mean.

Just give an ear to what happened in my house . . . It began last Friday night. I was just easing into the evening TV session when the picture flickered once or twice the screen became a ghostly white, illuminated, but image-less as a window pane.

I went through the usual routine of the amateur TV-fixer. First I gave the cabinet a hard knock. Nothing happened. Then my attention switched to the rear where there are a few mysterious switches and connections. I jiggled them. A few heartening squawks came from the speaker. Then I drifted to the aerial — at the point where it comes through the window. A tweak here and there revealed no loose connections.

A strange smell arose from the rear of the set. It resembled a macadam road in mid-summer. I hastily turned off the set. "It needs cooling-off," I said to myself. A few minutes later, I twisted the knob again. The same ghostly glare and the same smell. That settled it. My knowledge of electronics had been exhausted. This was a job for the TV-repairman.

"Honey," I called to my wife. "Phone the TV repairman." Dorothy appeared in the living room.

"What happened?" she asked. "The TV-repairman is a frequent visitor in our house."

"That's a good question," I responded. "Call the man."

My wife hurried off to the phone. She returned later. "He's on vacation and won't be back until sometime next week."

I pondered that catastrophic bit of news with outward calm. No one else would do. Our TV-repairman we trusted. He had tended the innards of our set with great and loving care. What would we do for the weekend, or Monday — or Tuesday, maybe?

Then Dorothy interrupted. "Let's go without TV for a while. Maybe we can get something done."

That combination challenge and spur set my blood pressure soaring. I mulled over some appropriate answers. Get something done! Humph!

Then the idea struck home. I squared myself and said, "Okay! Let's just forget the thing for awhile." I gave the defunct set a loving glance, meanwhile thinking of Saturday's ball game and the Sunday afternoon news programs, et al.

Dorothy rose to the role of the provider. First there was a run to the library for a stack of books. Then came a list of "something to be done," — mowing the lawn, tending the tomato plants, and the final crusher—"something MUST be done for the baby's room."

Having charted my own fate, I can report with more pride than good sense, that over the weekend I redecorated the baby's room, read two Grade B novels, tended the garden, mowed the lawn, went to church and as a somewhat ironic touch, read a non-fiction treatise on the radio and television entertainment industry. That surely qualified me for the husband-of-the-week — or perhaps the weekend.

The television man reported back in town yesterday. He came, fished out a blackened tube, and reported, with a smile, that the Coughlins are back in business — TV-wise.

Who for the Game-Of-The-Week?

Two More Newspapermen Confess Commie Pasts

N. Y. Times Reporter Tells Senators of Red Activities

WASHINGTON (AP)—A New York Times reporter told investigating senators today he was a Communist in the 1930's.

He said he quit the party in 1940, satisfied it wasn't run "on democratic principles."

The reporter, Charles Weingarten, said he wasn't a dedicated party member, that "I could take it or leave it — and I left it when I got fed up."

Gutierrez followed Victor Weingarten, a onetime fellow worker on the Brooklyn Eagle, to the witness chair in the second day of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee's investigation into Red influences in the press.

Weingarten, who identified himself as a self-employed publicity man in Pleasantville, N. Y., swore he hadn't been a Communist since the November election in 1940 but refused to tell the committee whether he had known any of his former associates to be party members since that time.

Recruited in 1937 Weingarten persisted in his refusal to discuss others although threatened with a citation for contempt.

Gutierrez said he was recruited into the party in 1937 by a fellow Brooklyn Eagle worker named Nat Einhorn.

Einhorn was named by Winston M. Burdett, Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) newsmen, Wednesday as a man known to him in the 1930s as a Communist. Burdett said he himself had been a member of a party unit on the Eagle and for two years was a Communist spy in Europe.

Gutierrez named Gladys Bentley as a Communist while working for the Eagle. Burdett had named her along with a dozen others.

"Clear Breast" Gutierrez said he had made "a clear breast" of his past to the New York Times management some years ago. He has been working for the newspaper since the latter part of 1940.

Weingarten told the subcommittee "I'm willing to testify all about myself since 1940 but not about others."

He was told by J. G. Sourwine, the subcommittee's counsel, that he had "no right to protect others" under his Fifth Amendment privilege against possible self-incrimination.

Sen. Eastland (D-Miss), the subcommittee chairman, told Weingarten that unless he answered Sourwine's question he would recommend that he be cited for contempt of the Senate. He declined. Conviction for contempt carries a possible penalty of a $1,000 fine and a year in jail.

Among A Dozen Burdett, 41, testified he had joined a Communist unit at the now-defunct Brooklyn Eagle in 1937, had undertaken espionage assignments abroad for Russia in 1940-41, and then had broken with the Communists before going to work for the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Gutierrez was among a dozen former fellow employees on the Brooklyn Eagle whom Burdett testified he had known as Communists in 1937-40.

Late Wednesday five of those named by Burdett invoked the Fifth Amendment privilege against possible self-incrimination in refusing to answer some questions. A sixth, Monroe Stern, swore to the subcommittee he never had been a Communist.

Burdett, now CBS' United Nations correspondent, said he had been working for the newspaper since the latter part of 1940.

Lightning Causes Fire Near Polo

POLO — (Special) — Lightning struck a machine shed on the Tavenner farm between Polo and Milledgeville early today and fire destroyed the shed and equipment worth $5,000.

Harold Cross, a neighbor to the farm tenanted by Floyd Reecher, said that he was returning home from his job in Sterling when he spotted the blaze about 2 a.m. during the rainstorm. He aroused Reecher and his family and the Milledgeville fire department was called.

Destroyed was a hay baler, compicker, combine, some plows and drags and other less valuable articles. Reecher said the loss was partially covered by insurance.

Report Steel to Play Trump in Wage Talks

Strike May Be Averted In Final Hour

Union-Company Negotiations Go on in Secret

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The steel industry drifted today toward an economy-crushing midnight strike with negotiators maintaining a tight secrecy lid on final peace efforts.

David J. McDonald, president of the strike-threatening CIO Steelworkers Union, was closeted with John A. Stephens, principal bargainer for U. S. Steel Corp.

Stephens had hinted that "Big Steel" was preparing a new money offer but he apparently was withholding it as a trump card.

McDonald already has rejected an average 10-cent an hour pay raise proposal for the union's 600,000 members in the basic steel industry. They now average $2.33 per hour.

Mills Shut Down Major steel mills were gradually being shut down. They began well in advance of the strike deadline, "cooling off" furnaces and draining them of hot metal. Some workers already were reported off the job due to the gradual curtailment.

McDonald stayed away from a route mid-morning session of the union bargaining teams. I. W. Abel, union secretary-treasurer, gave a brief, noncommittal "no progress" report to the closed meeting of union leaders and recessed the group until tonight.

Abel was quoted in some reports after the meeting as saying he expected to have a settlement ready to report to the union leaders at the night meeting, but Abel told the Associated Press he had no basis for such optimism.

No Meeting Plans The union said it had made no plans to convening its wage-policy committee, which would have to pass on any proposed settlement, but the committee's members were standing by and could be assembled quickly.

It appeared any showdown might be delayed until only a few hours ahead of the strike deadline. Industry strategy seemed aimed at delaying its final peace bid until the last minute to give the union a yes-no decision.

It has been three years since the last industry-wide steel strike. Mills were shut down nearly two months in the summer of 1952 when the late Steel Workers Union president Philip Murray held out for a union shop arrangement, but finally agreed on a compromise.

There still were substantial hopes that a settlement could be reached in today's crucial bargaining sessions.

It drew sharp dissents from 4 of the 12 members, including both Atty. Gen. Brownell and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming.

James A. Farley, former postmaster general in the Roosevelt administration, charged that the report came "dangerously close" to inviting the government to "abdicate" its responsibilities in development of the nation's resources.

Wrote 84 pages of stinging dissent and promised to press his attack on the floor of the House.

Holifield charged that an 1,800-page report of the commission's last force on power—which he said cost the taxpayers $430,000—was withheld "deliberately" from public distribution at this time, but is destined, he said, to become a handbook for "private power company propaganda."

A commission spokesman said the task force report was delayed in printing, but might appear next week.

HE'S A GOOD SCOUT—Andy Neureuther, 13-year-old Boy Scout, shows his baseball equipment to Janet Brinkoetter, six, at St. Mary's hospital in Decatur, Ill. Andy's baseball game was interrupted while he provided pressure to stop the flow of blood when Janet cut an artery in her right arm on a broken window. Andy held firmly to the arm during ambulance ride to hospital and was carried with the girl into emergency room where a physician took over. Hospital attendants said Andy was instrumental in saving the girl's life. (AP photo)

Hoover Submits Report, Prepares for Retirement

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover commission wrapped up its two-year job today embroiled in controversy, but claiming its reorganization plans, if adopted, would balance the budget and permit tax cuts.

Former President Herbert Hoover, its chairman, issued a 19th and "final" report—it isn't quite final because another will be along in mid-July and prepared to withdraw from public life at age 80.

The group's formal name is the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government—is due to go out of existence at midnight.

The public power issue caused the commission to expire in a blaze of conflict. A Hoover report on "water resources and power" issued Wednesday urged a drastic curtailment of federal power development and larger scope for private utilities.

It drew sharp dissents from 4 of the 12 members, including both Atty. Gen. Brownell and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming.

Stratton Gets Major Requests

Appropriations to Reach New Record Of $1.75 Billions

By ROGER LANE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois senate passed bills creating a state department of personnel as the legislature breezed through its work and prepared to end its six-month session late today.

Still maintaining the swift pace maintained by both houses Wednesday, the Assembly cleared the decks for the final bang of the gavel.

Passage of the personnel bills, which go to the House for concurrence in an amendment, was one of the last few larger issues to be settled.

Studied 18 Months They were drawn by a special legislative commission after an 18-month study. The department would have responsibility for hiring and placement of state employees and for classification, pay, working conditions and merit and fitness testing. The bills would be effective in two years.

It was a free-taxing, free-spending Legislature that was certain to wind up by appropriating more money than any of its predecessors—in the neighborhood of 1½ billion dollars.

Perhaps the major accomplishment of the 1955 Assembly was remapping legislative districts for the first time since 1901. This was done under a new constitutional provision which assured Cook County control over one branch—the House—for the first time in history.

The reapportionment task, a tortuous one because the lawmakers in effect were called upon to expel some of their number by cutting out the political ground beneath them, served as a brake on other business.

Formed Coalition With Gov. Stratton's program bogged down two-thirds of the way through the session, the Republican chief executive formed a coalition with Democratic Mayor Daley of Chicago that produced enactment of important tax measures.

The Stratton-Daley program was met with anguished cries from many downstate, Republican and Democratic, but resulted in a state sales tax boost, enlarged city taxing powers and approval of a proposed sweeping revision of the state taxation system that voters will have to pass upon at the 1956 general election.

The sales tax was hiked to 2½ cents on the dollar after remaining at 2 cents since 1941. Cities were given the right to levy a half-cent sales tax of their own, raising the prospect that many Illinoisans would be paying a total of 3 cents on each dollar of retail purchase before very long.

Many Defeated Outside the scope of the Stratton-Daley agreement, many of the governor's recommendations to the Assembly were defeated.

Major demands rejected included a constitutional amendment for court reform, a 65-mile an hour daytime highway speed limit, shifting the statewide primary from April to June and three governmental reorganizations.

These called for creation of a new department of public assistance, abolition of the State Aeronautics Department and merger of the State Harness and Horse Racing Commissions.

The governor also lost out on his requests for a 75 cents an hour minimum wage law and for power to send the attorney general into

Senator Thinks Watch Tariff Law Is Faulty

WASHINGTON (AP)—A member of the Senate Investigations subcommittee says new regulations may have to be adopted to make certain the government collects all tariffs due it on imported Swiss watches.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) told newsmen Wednesday during a break in hearings that he doesn't "think there is any corruption" in the collection of watch duties. He said testimony thus far "doesn't even suggest corruption."

The inquiry, being conducted in private, seeks to determine if the government has been cheated of millions of dollars in customs fees on Swiss watches.

Mundt said that testimony "does indicate that what we need, perhaps, is a new law."

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) the subcommittee chairman, said the inquiry is concerned with whether the tariff law is at fault, as well as with the legislation which prompted it in the first place.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel for the subcommittee, mentioned charges that a "1940 interpretation" by customs officials on the collection of watch duties was "based on fraud." He did not elaborate on that, but said if the charges were true, the government may have lost up to "a couple of hundred million dollars" on watches brought into the U.S. with labels falsely designating them "unadjusted."

ORNAMENT HELPS FRUIT
HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP)—Rich and Son Nursery reports it has received a patent on a new tree, named the Oregon plum, developed from the ornamental flowering purple leaf plum, Prunus Pissardi, and the yellow-fruited plum, Shiro.

The new variety retains the blossoms and colored leaves of the ornamental tree. The fruit is cherry red outside and apricot yellow inside, the nursery says.

Growers say a number of new fruits have been developed in Oregon but use of a tree known chiefly as an ornamental is rare.

Roman Catholics Deny Devotion to Virgin Distorted

NEW YORK (AP)—Roman Catholic theologians say a recent Presbyterian statement that there is a Catholic "trend to exalt the figure of the Virgin Mother" presents a "distortion of Catholic devotion to Mary."

The Catholic Theological Society of America, at the close of its 10th annual convention Wednesday expressed "regret and sorrow" at the statement issued last May by the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

The Presbyterian Assembly asserted in part that the Virgin Mother had become "virtual head" of the Catholic Church.

The Catholic Society said in a statement:

"The picture of Catholic devotion presented in this statement is one that Catholics will find simply unrecognizable."

"It is not true that in the mind and heart of Catholics Mary takes the place of Christ. It is not true that Catholics think of Mary as a 'semidivine' being."

Hoover Report Urges Less Centralization of Power

Recommends States Assume Rightful Place

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—The first intensive study since the constitutional convention of 1787 on relations between the federal government and the states has just been completed.

The job was done by a 25-man group set up under the direction of President Eisenhower and called the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. Appointed in 1953, it has just reported to Eisenhower.

The reason for its creation had its roots in a problem which has plagued this country from the beginning: How to keep a proper division of powers between the federal government and the states.

Be Comes Acute
The problem has become increasingly acute since depression days and the advent of the New Deal, which widened federal control over the citizens while at the same time giving them new benefits and protections.

Some, but not all, of what the federal government has done might have been done by the states if they had either the willingness or the financial resources.

So the special commission tried to examine this whole picture and make recommendations on what the states should do and what the federal government should do so that the latter would not eventually become all-powerful and dominant.

The commission made some specific recommendations. For example: Education is the states' job and there should not be any general federal aid to education; the federal government should be in full control of civil defense.

More Local Government
In short, the commission suggested less government from Washington, more government by states and local communities. But at this point the report was at its weakest since the commission could only suggest ideas and can't enforce them.

It recommended states and local communities do more for themselves and rely less on the federal government. How can it be done? That's up to the states to do for themselves.

Since what the government does for the people as a whole costs money, there is the endless temptation in the states, which don't want to spend money if they can help it, to let the federal government do the job. Each time that happens more power is centralized in Washington.

100,000 Units!
As an example of the complexity and interlocking of the whole government structure in this country, the "local government map" of the United States discloses a maze of approximately 109,000 governmental units, many of them overlapping.

"The figure includes some 3,000 counties, 17,000 incorporated municipalities, 17,000 towns and townships, 80,000 independent school districts, and 12,000 special districts."

South Bend Finds Exit Easy, But Return Is Hard

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—South Bend's Operation Exit today had the approval stamp of civil defense officials who found out it's easier to get the man-on-the-street out into the country than the get him back again.

The outbound file flowed from the 400-block test area Wednesday with a minimum of confusion or traffic snarls, in the nation's first evacuation test of a large cross-sectional population.

Jams didn't develop until the "evacuees" did a turnaround and started back to homes and offices. By then, the overheated motor was the chief culprit.

While civil defense officials estimated 25,000 persons got clear of the test area in about 40 minutes, newsmen thought the number of participants was more like 18,000 or 20,000.

Fun to wear around the house, for yourself or company to gaze upon, are jeweled slippers. Have them flat if you crave comfort, with heels for real glamor.

Attacked Fliers Tell Their Story

Claim Two Russian MIGs Made Assault

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The Navy Neptune shot down by Russian attackers over the Bering Sea last week was over international waters and two Russian MIGs took part, crew members say.

First interviews allowed with the seven painfully burned and wounded fliers Wednesday bore out, with colorful detail, the terse State Department description of the international incident a week ago. Their crippled plane crash-landed and burned on St. Lawrence Island a week ago Wednesday and the 11 aboard scrambled to safety, with four soon returning to duty.

Last week in San Francisco, Soviet Premier V. M. Molotov expressed his government's regret for the shooting down of the plane and said Russia was willing to pay one-half the damages.

The State Department then issued a statement saying in part: "The Soviet government asserts that the United States plane was within the Soviet air space but under atmospheric conditions which made possible an error on one side or another in regard to the exact location of the plane at the moment of the incident."

Ena. David G. Essard, Terryville, Conn., the navigator who charted the plane's course on its routine mission, put it:

"I know damned well we weren't within Russian bounds when we were fired upon."

Aviation Ordnanceman Donald E. Sonnek, Minnesota Lake, Minn., said:

"I was looking out of one of the two windows in the aft station when I suddenly saw this Russian plane. It was firing tracers. Sure, I knew right off it was a Russian plane."

He had no time to shout a warning before a bullet ripped into the ship.

"There had to be another MIG," he said, "because the bullets came from a different side than where I saw the plane firing the tracers."

He admitted, however, he saw only one Russian plane.

The seven men, talking from wheel chairs and their beds at the Air Force base hospital here, gave high praise to Lt. Richard H. Fischer, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Aviation Machinist Mate Thaddeus Maziarz, Oakland, Calif.

Little to Say
Maziarz, who fed fuel to the one good engine from leaking and burning gas tanks to bring the crippled ship in for the crash-landing, had little to say.

"My first thoughts when we were hit were, 'If I could only get a chance to get at one of our guns,'" he said. "But he knew he was needed on the fuel line."

The seven men will be flown to the States for further medical treatment.

British Warn Nationalists On Sea Rights

LONDON (AP)—Britain has protested Nationalist Chinese interference with two British ships headed for Foochow and warned that the Royal Navy will protect British vessels lawfully conducting trade with Red China.

Robert Turton, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, announced the protest in the House of Commons last night. He said the ships, the Inchura and the Helikon, were intercepted by a Nationalist Chinese warship when they attempted to enter Foochow harbor.

The Helikon was fired on and detained seven hours but both ships succeeded in reaching Foochow.

WINS "PRIVATE WAR"
Charlton Heston was right. The movie star spent two years selling his studio on making "The Private War of Major Benson." The story of a stern Army officer's humorous struggles in running a boys' military school has proved a hit in previews.

SAFE SALESMEN
RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Here's a tale about the traveling salesman that you can believe.

State police say he is the safest driver on the highways. Not a single traffic fatality occurred in an accident involving a traveling salesman last year. Police say they are driving every day and stay alert to road hazards.

'New York, New York, A Wonderful Town...'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The summer city of the world says hello and welcome.

New York City is officially at hand to the visitor.

I don't intend to tell you about the official program of entertainment that has been arranged for you. If you want that program, you write a letter asking for it and address it: "To the Mayor, New York City."

He'll attend to it, or we'll get a new mayor who will. He'll tell you all the 1,001 special attractions that make this particular summer the greatest in New York City's history.

Don't Need a Program

They've gone to a lot of trouble to prove that this is a wonderful place to visit (after all, you don't have to live here), but if you have a sense of adventure you can throw away the program.

You never need a program to enjoy New York. I live here and I know this—and, if you believe me, you can take my word for it.

Certainly New York gets hot on some days. It has a heat that can build up restlessness and discomfort, but usually within five days at most that heat will blow away.

It's a changeable town in almost every way . . . but no one man ever owned it or bought it. And if you bring a feeling to it that matches its size it will also enlarge you.

They say it isn't America, but it is the most American city in the United States. The Statue of Liberty isn't in another port. It lifts its torch here.

Culture, Cruelty
New York City is fun. And adventure. And opportunity. It is also skyscrapers, culture and cruelty. But it is neither more cultured nor cruel than what you're looking for. It is you magnified, many many times.

New York City, home of the hope held out by the United Nations, queen city of the modern West, capital of the dollar, portal to the world, holds out her arms.

Never the same, always new, shrugging off her 300-year history, it is the one mighty metropolis on earth that still bases its appeal on the glamour of youth and doesn't ask to be admired or respected merely because it's old.

Stockings that have glittery buckles and other ornaments worked over the instep are just the thing to wear with black satin pumps.

That Shot-Down Navy Plane

For the Russians to regret any violation of international law is remarkable indeed. But we ought not to be too dazzled by the apologies they have now uttered for shooting down a U. S. naval patrol plane off Alaska.

Foreign Minister Molotov offered to pay for half the damage to the wrecked plane. This is certainly better than nothing, but it doesn't represent the full limit of Russian liability. The attack, so far as all reports indicate, was an unprovoked affair made in international waters.

The 11 American crewmen, seven of whom were injured either by gunfire or in the emergency landing on a small island, insist that they did not have time to return the fire of the Russian fighter plane.

From their testimony we know where responsibility lies, and of course the Russians do, too. The question is: Why was the attack made?

Some will argue with Senator Knowland that the shooting was a deliberate act designed to "test our defenses." It may well have been deliberate, but it seems doubtful that such an assault tests our defenses in any real way. Shooting down an occasional patrol plane doesn't tell the Reds much.

Some say the incident was planned for the very purpose of allowing Molotov to apologize thereafter, and thus appear before the world as magnanimous and genuinely concerned with peace. Again, this is rather far-fetched, since the Russians could not guarantee how the world or the United States would receive the news of this incident, even with an apology.

It is much more likely that the shooting was designed, as other similar incidents have been, to bluff our patrols away from the Siberian shore. Nothing like a few live bullets to discourage curiosity about a potential enemy's coastal activities.

It has always been Soviet policy to practice this sort of discouragement against anybody venturing within a few hundred miles of the Russian border, whether in Asia or Europe.

Our patrols surely do not content themselves with blandly flying about the international waters separating us from the Soviet Union. Though the fact is never publicly acknowledged, their job is so nose fairly close to the Soviet shore to detect defenses, especially any build-up operations.

Some of our downed aircraft may actually have been flying close in. But that is not really necessary in order to produce a Soviet gunburst. The Russians are interested in the effect, and for that purpose any U. S. plane within range of Russian fighters will do.

Living Standards on the Rise

Government figures show that in 1946 there were 3,826,000 families or unattached individuals whose annual income before taxes was less than $1000. Another 7,606,000 families or individuals earned from $1000 to $2000 a year.

In 1953, the last year for which figures are available, the total with incomes under $1000 had dropped to 2,866,000, and the $1000-$2000 category fell to 5,433,000.

By contrast, families and individuals in the $5000-$6000 bracket have risen from 3,065,000 in 1946 to 6,276,000 in 1953. In the $6000-$7500 group, the total shot up from 2,547,000 to 6,240,000. Notable gains also were made in brackets from $7500 on up through $15,000.

Part of this advance reflects a gain of more than seven million in the number of families and individuals earning measurable income. But more importantly, it shows the climb of living standards in the United States to new high levels. It is one more chapter in the continuing American revolution.

Women Have Pleasures, No Need to Envy Men

Men may have some pleasures women don't share. But what man ever knew:

The feeling of triumph a woman gets when a carefully planned party turns out to be the success she was afraid it might not be? He says casually, "Well, everybody seemed to have a good time" and lets it go at that.

The elation that comes from finding exactly the right hat to set off a spring suit? A man finds a hat the right size and the right color the first place he looks. He squares his shoulders and pulls in his chin while he inspects it in a mirror and says, "I'll take it" and immediately forgets the whole transaction.

The great sense of relief when a daughter who has been afraid she might not be invited to a school dance gets the all important phone call and begins to bubble instead of droop? A man assumes that any boy in his right mind would be proud to take his daughter anywhere she might want to go.

WOMEN HAVE TRIUMPHS, AS WELL

The joy of working out a color scheme for a room and having it turn out just the way it was visualized down to the last distinctive touch? A man just sees that it looks better than it did before without seeing any of the dream or the hard work that went into creating the room as it is.

The deep sense of pride and satisfaction a woman feels when a new and complicated dish turns out just the way she hoped it would. A man dismisses it lightly with, "This is good. What is it, anyhow?"

Yes, sir. There are a lot of purely feminine satisfactions that men don't share. So why should any woman ever envy them their own special enthusiasms?

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Hollywood and Grapevine Rush for the paint pots, gals, and get your rainbow eyes!

It's the latest fad with movie belles, according to facial expert, Ada Grey, who stated it and says it's wonderful for women over 30 to replace the coloring and highlights that fade as age grows older.

War paint, says Ada, belongs around the peepers and nowhere else. The trick is to find just what colors nature has put into the eyes and then repeat the hues starting from the eyelashes up.

Like a half line of blue under the blinkers blue and green shadows on eyelids green mascara on eyelashes and traces of the same colors in the eyebrows. Or a symphony of violet, chartreuse and gold.

Preview Bulletin: Warners' "Land of the Pharaohs" has more spectacle per square inch than anything yet. Joan Collins, the British sex-dazzler, emerges as a big star.

Richard Burton will play the Ty Power role and Lana Turner the part that Myrna Loy created in the remake of "The Rains Came" now titled, "The Rains of Ranchipur."

When I talked to Lana about it, she said: "This is a real dame. When she sees a man she likes she tells her husband 'Take off somewhere dear. I'll join you in two weeks.'"

THERE'S A NEW LABEL on Pat O'Brien's make-up kit—"Heavy." Yup, the same O'Brien who specialized in lovable Irish cops and who turned his collar around for so many priest roles, he laughs that "I thought maybe it would be ordained."

It started on TV with Ruth Roman in "The Chase." He was asked by the producer if he minded playing a heavy "Mund?" he howled "I'd love it. Those are the meaty roles."

"Dinner at Eight" in TV's Front Row Center series was his latest. Now he goes to Columbia for a gangster part in "Inside Detroit."

The Desert Inn in Vegas was so impressed with Noel Coward's act they tacked a "Mr." in front of his name in all the advertising.

Bobby Van, the song-and-dance star, had his nose and ears pretreated by a New York plastic surgeon.

The political awards of synthetic honor which are bestowed by American institutions of learning and radical political fronts disguised as philanthropic and cultural societies have discredited the whole traffic. It was soverdone. When Notre Dame hangs its latest medal on George Meany, it reduces the medal to dross and brings its own ideals and values into serious question in the eyes of honest men who know Meany's record and the story of the medal.

When the University of Arizona permits a professor of journalism without an academic degree to his name to hand an "award" for valor on E. Palmer Hoyt of the Denver Post for a vulgar exploit, it not only discredits its honorary degrees but impugns diplomas earned by young students through serious study and sacrifice.

Such rubbish is a system of public education which is putting itself forth as custodian of our culture and our national ideals. The students of the schools which take part in this tawdry traffic have a right to challenge their faculties to justify all such awards in detail. Actually, an honorary degree is no degree at all. It is no more value than the commission of a Kentucky colonel, which, at least, has the quality of humor and is only mentioned sheepishly if at all by the recipient.

These schools are not the private political preserves of individuals momentarily in charge. They should be held above the sordidness of political spite and strife, but observation shows that almost invariably there is some political motive back of their honorary "degrees." Few of them even remotely related to scholarship.

Jim Farley is a decent citizen who never went to college. He was a machine politician, too clever and successful for the good of a country which I am sure he loves. He never got an honorary "degree" until 1933, the year his man, Roosevelt, was inaugurated for the first of four terms which were, altogether, a tragedy to Farley's country and his fellow men. Jim collected 16 phony degrees between 1933 and 1950, when he lost status with the professoriate. He was out of politics now.

As I have already noted, Paul Hoffman, of the Truman squandering, later of the Ford Foundation and now of the Ford Fund for the Republic, accumulated 30 of these ersatz warrants although he had less than two years of college. He is a hustler and promoter with the gall of a carnival pitchman, but learning, in the dignified sense of the term, is not among his traits.

So the schools which gave him degrees diluted their honor without enhancing his.

Tom Watson, another salesman and benefactor of the actual trade, has a fantastic roster of awards. He has 35 honorary degrees which, in total, do not signify that he can spell "cat" and a diatribe of lavender, garters, rosettes and badges from the governments of more countries than most of us could name by memory. Many of the governments, even the nations, have vanished, but old Mr. Watson still calls the roll of his baubles in Who's Who. It would be more impressive if he cut the list in half, for, on the face of his known achievements, they cannot amount to much, all told.

Harry Truman had the earthy good sense to realize that these scrolls were worthless. He does not list a single one, though he doggedly insists on stating that he was a chief judge of a county court, which means only that he was chairman of the county board. Eleanor Roosevelt, too, may realize the futility of such things, for she mentions not a one, though she does continue to collect them. However, she can't resist stating that by some miracle the trustees of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Brotherhood Award, whatever that may be, picked her as the first recipient. She is proud also of the Irving Geist Foundation Award. Mr. Geist is a New York merchant who made a lot of money and created a foundation in his own honor. Thus in time, he could patronize pretentious rich men today. There

The Doctor Says

Some People Are Believed To Be Accident-Prone

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. The problem of motor vehicle accidents is appalling. They were responsible for about 36,500 deaths during 1954 and an enormous number of nonfatal injuries.

Today the chances of dying in or from a motor vehicle accident are almost as great as from heart disease or cancer.

It is interesting that there is a great geographical variation in the hazards of fatal motor vehicle accidents. The danger is less in the New England states followed by New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The risk is higher in the central states of the United States, the south and along the Pacific coast. They are most of all in the Rocky Mountain states. The reasons for these geographical differences are certainly worthy of study.

The medical profession is interested in possibilities of reducing deaths, injuries, or illnesses from any cause, including those from accidents. We do, therefore, have a part to play in this enormous problem.

IT IS NOW believed that there are some people who are particularly likely to be involved in traffic accidents.

In the state of Connecticut, for example, it was shown by a six-year study that about 1.25 of the automobile drivers were involved in more than one-third of the traffic accidents. Such persons are sometimes called "accident-prone."

It would be of great help, therefore, if the worst "accident-prone" individuals could be identified and ruled off the streets and highways. This would add greatly to the safety of the rest of us.

THERE ARE METHODS by which it is believed that the accident-prone individual can be identified. He (or she) is considered impulsive and concentrated on immediate pleasures or satisfaction and thus likely to act on the spur of the moment.

The accident-prone person is believed to have an instinct of rebellion and resentment and to demonstrate the "show-off" and "don't give a damn" type of psychology.

Another method of attack on the problem is to pay greater attention to the physical condition of the drivers of our motor vehicles. Obviously, a person with really poor eyesight cannot be as safe a driver as one who has good vision. Probably too, there are other physical characteristics which enter into the picture.

SOME PHYSICIANS have made specific suggestions regarding the design of cars which would lessen the danger of death or serious injury if the car did become involved in an accident.

These suggestions have included belts for the passengers to hold them in place similar to those on airplanes, and governors which would keep the speed of the vehicle below the most dangerous levels. So far as I know, few, if any, automobile designers have followed these suggestions.

There is one encouraging note. Although there were over 36,000 deaths from traffic accidents in 1954 this was nearly 2,000 fewer than in the preceding year in spite of the increased mileage traveled.

Barber Wants $2.50 Fee for Crew Cuts

CHICAGO (AP) — A barber shop owner suggested Wednesday that the price of crew cuts be boosted to $2.50.

"It takes 30 minutes to give a crew haircut while you can give a regular haircut in 15 minutes," he told a group of 1,000 shop owners who met to consider wage demands of journeymen barbers.

Crew cuts now cost the same as regular haircuts—$1.50 on weekdays and $1.75 on Saturdays.

Stanley Krahler Helps Prepare New Text Book

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Krahler and daughters, Marilyn and Janet, Wilmington, Del., will be guests of his parents, the R. F. Krahlers, 112 Monroe Ave., for a brief visit in early July.

Stan has been with the DuPont company the past 13 years. He, together with 18 other chemists of his division, collaborated in the preparation of a new text, "Symposium in Chemistry," which is just off the press. Each man in the group contributed one chapter touching upon the late findings in his particular field of research. Written at the seminar level, it will probably be found in libraries devoted to research.

Take Precautions For This Season

Summer brings many enjoyable picnics, hikes and other outdoor activities, but it also brings such unpleasant things as sunburns, overfatigue and poison ivy. Your job is to prevent these unpleasant episodes in your family's schedule.

Miss Pauline Brimhall, University of Illinois health education specialist, says you can prevent serious injury and illness from overexposure to the sun by taking it in small doses until you know how much your skin can take. Avoid prolonged and strenuous activities during hot weather. Everyone needs to take things easier then. When the temperature reaches toward the 100 degrees mark, it's just good common sense to cut down on physical activity. Children should not romp and play too hard in the sun. Some restrictions should be placed on the usual strenuous activities of teenagers. The homemaker needs to rest from her work now and then and try to cut down on some of the hot, tiring jobs. Husbands should avoid working too long in the summer sun or trying to get in too many holes of golf over the weekend.

Miss Brimhall also suggests that each member of your family learn to recognize that three-leaf cluster of poison ivy. Remember, the leaves are green in spring, but they turn reddish-brown by fall. Almost nobody is immune to poison ivy, and it is dangerous all year 'round.

The only real defense is to stay completely away from it. But, since someone may accidentally run into it, here are a few precautions: When you go into the woods or fields, wear protective clothing, such as gloves, boots or long stockings and long sleeves. When you return home, scrub your skin, and be sure to wash your clothing with soap and water because the poisonous sap will cling to it otherwise.

The medium and flat heel is apparently going to give us comfort for a long time to come, for Fifth Avenue has just gained a shoe store dedicated to these two becoming heels alone.

Mrs. Schaefer is the former Mabel Darlene Fischer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fischer, Van Orin, and the bridegroom's parents are the Fred Schaefer, Harmon.

Baskets of yellow gladioli were used in decorating for the early June afternoon wedding. Rev. P. H. Lechner officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Vance Hopper, Dixon, was nuptial organist, and Miss Barbara Hopper, her daughter, soloist. Selections included "Because," "Oh Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her brother, Ralph Fischer, LaMoille, the bride was lovely in a waltz length gown of white nylon tulle imported Caloon lace over satin. The dress was designed with a snug fitting bodice, accented by sequins and pearls, a scoop neckline of hand embroidered scallop and long lace sleeves. The bride's veil of fine illusion net was edged with French Chantilly lace and held by a delicate tiara of sequins and pearls, to match the trim of the gown.

For her something old, the bride carried a hankie. Something borrowed was a necklace. She carried a white Testament with an arrangement of Stephanotis.

Mrs. Ralph Fischer, LaMoille, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Robert Hann, Dixon, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaid. With their satin and net frocks they were matching picture hats and mitts. Their bouquets were nosegays of net and daisies. Mrs. Fischer wore orchid and Mrs. Hann, green.

Casper Schaefer, Harmon, served his brother as best man and Robert Hann, Dixon, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, groomsmen. Ushers were Douglas Fiesner, Sterling, cousin of the bridegroom, and Glenn Esterday, LaMoille, cousin of the bride.

Child Attendants
Louise Esterday, LaMoille, flower girl, wore a yellow organza frock. She carried a basket of daisies and wore white daisies in her hair. Billy Esterday, LaMoille, as ring bearer, carried the rings on a white satin pillow. He wore white linen.

The bridegroom's mother wore pink sheer and Mrs. Elsa Jensen, cousin of the bride, wore aqua lace. Their corsages were of white carnations.

A reception for 300 guests was held in the church parlors, following the ceremony. A tiered wedding cake centered the serving table and white gladioli, matching tapers and greenery complimented the cake. Orange blossoms, frozen in ice floated in the punch bowl. Mrs. William Schneider served the punch: Miss Bernadine Gerdies, Dixon, poured coffee; Leonard Klein, Mendota, served the cake, assisted by Mrs. Glenn Esterday, LaMoille, and Miss Anita Jacobs, Walnut. Mrs. Melvin Monson, Rochelle, was in charge of the guest book and Misses Loreta Jensen, Manlius, Lila Damon, Van Orin, and Florence Roemmich, Dixon, displayed the gifts.

Steward Pastor Is Transferred

Among the changes of pastors made last week by the Methodist Rock River Annual Conference at its meeting at Elgin was that of the Steward Methodist Church. Rev. Joe E. Caldwell, pastor of the Steward church since October, 1951, is leaving to go to Westmoreland, Kansas, where he will serve as part-time pastor while completing training to be a hospital chaplain-supervisor. Rev. Caldwell is being succeeded at the Steward church by the Rev. Glen Dunbar, who has been stationed at Sheridan-Norway.

Rev. and Mrs. Caldwell are moving to Kansas this week, as Rev. Caldwell begins his new duties July 1. Westmoreland is about 50 miles from Topeka. His training to be a hospital chaplain-supervisor will include work at the Menninger clinic, the Boy's Industrial school, and the Topeka State Hospital. Upon completion of this training, Rev. Caldwell plans to serve as a chaplain in a hospital, which will probably be a church-related hospital, and will also act as a supervisor in a clinical training program for theological students and pastors. Clinical pastoral training is receiving increasing attention over the country as a way of helping pastors to become more skillful in ministering to the emotional and spiritual needs of parishioners. Clinical pastoral training is based upon a recognition of the close relationship between religion and health, and upon the contribution that religion can make toward health. The hospital chaplaincy is a ministry to persons which seeks to combine the resources of religious faith with the insights of psychiatry in assisting the doctor in his work with patients.

While serving the Steward church, Rev. Caldwell has been doing post-graduate work in pastoral psychology at Garrett Biblical Institute and Northwestern University, where he received his M.A. degree in 1954. He did his college work at Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory, N.C., and received his seminary training at the Duke University Divinity School in Durham, N.C. During the past year, Rev. Caldwell has done clinical training at the Manteno state hospital and in the Cook County Hospital.

During the pastorate of Rev. Caldwell the Steward church engaged in a building program which included the erection of a new educational building and the remodeling and redecorating of the sanctuary. The congregation has witnessed considerable growth in its membership in this period also. Seventy-one people have been added to the church membership. The program of education has received much emphasis during Rev. Caldwell's pastorate, and the Sunday school, particularly the children's division, has grown in its enrollment and attendance. The average attendance of the Sunday school is over 100, and a record attendance of 128 was reached this past year.

Holzman replaced Andrew (Fuzzy) Levane Yalesch of the Hawks, then in Milwaukee, midway through the 1953-54 season. The club moved its franchise to St. Louis this year.

Fight Results

BOSTON—Wallace (Bud) Smith, 124, Cincinnati, outpointed Jimmy Carter, 124½, New York, 15, for world lightweight championship.

HAVANA—Laurie Pavia, 124½, Mexico City, knocked out Puffy Garcia, 127½, Havana, 8.

Legion Trips Ashton, 12-4

ASHTON—(Special)—Dixon gained a measure of revenge and moved back into a second place tie in the Southern division of Junior American Legion baseball play Wednesday with a 12-4 decision over Ashton.

A big nine run second inning proved the difference for Dixon as Larry Henert, after being yanked from the mound in the second frame, came back in the third and proceeded to handcut the local nine the rest of the way.

Jerry Woodbridge hurled for Dixon and went the distance, giving up just five hits while allowing four runs. Woodbridge's cause was helped considerably in that second inning when after a pair of errors had set up three runs, Larry blasted a bases loaded homer.

3-3 Records

Brown's long poke finished Henert for the time being as Jon Wisman came on to finish out the inning. Dixon got to Wisman for two more runs before the side was retired.

The victory moved Dixon into a second place tie with Ashton, both having 3-3 records and averaged a 14-12 setback at the hands of Ashton Sunday.

Tonight, Dixon entertains Amboy at Reynolds field in a 6 o'clock contest and then winds up the season at West Brooklyn, July 7. Ashton is idle tonight but entertains Rock Falls Sunday and Amboy July 7.

The rest of tonight's schedule finds West Brooklyn at Rock Falls, Forrester at Mt. Morris, Milledgeville at Oregon and Byron at Polo.

Recreation, Zeien Win

Rain washed out one game and cut short another in Jayces-Park Board minor league play Wednesday afternoon.

In the only completed game, Zeien racked up 10 runs in the second inning and went on to score a 15-5 victory over Lawton.

Dixon Recreation, with a run in the first inning, was awarded a 1-0 decision over Freeman in a game stopped at three innings by rain.

The Melvin vs. K.C. contest has been rescheduled for 1:30 p.m. following the regular instruction period.

The Dixon Recreation-Freeman game gave indications of one of the best pitching duels of the season. Jim Johnson of the Recreation, had limited Freeman to just one hit while blanking the Shoemen over the first three innings. Freeman hurler Gary Flanagan had given up just two hits while allowing the one run that cost him the game.

Ray Smith, of no-hit, no-run fame, allowed five hits and five runs against Lawton, but his mates backed him with 15 runs. Smith fanned 11 batters and helped his cause with a home run in the big second. Eric Nelson was tagged with the loss. He allowed 11 hits.

Win on Homer

OREGON—(Special)—Dick Miller spanked a two run homer in the last of the seventh to give Oregon a 7-5 victory over Forrester in a Pony League contest here Tuesday. The win gave Oregon a 3-2 record for the season.

Expect Title Bout to Draw Great Bets

Fight May Land In High Financial Bracket at Gate

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Men about Broadway who know of such things say that the title bout between Rocky Marciano and Archie Moore in September will be the greatest betting event since the second Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight back in 1946.

The high rollers around the country already are pouring it in at the prevailing odds of 12-5 against ancient Archie, even before agreement has been reached either on the date or site of the scrap. Those who like Moore's chances are in a hurry, convinced that such a long price will not last.

If you want to believe everything you hear, this fight also is going to land in the same financial bracket with the second Louis-Conn.

Nothing Since

That is talking about real money. When the dark destroyer and Pittsburgh Billy squared off on the night of June 19, 1946, there were 45,266 paying clients in Yankee Stadium and they had shelled out $1,925,546, starting at $100 ring-side. There has been nothing to approach it since. Though 47,585 watched Marciano beat Ezzard Charles in 15 rounds here last June, they paid only $543,092.

It can only be hoped that Moore's long-delayed shot at the big prize does not resemble the Louis-Conn classic in one other important respect. Billy, who, like Archie, had stepped up from the light-heavyweight division to do battle with the head man, weighed a blowy 187 pounds for his second try at Joe and probably couldn't have whipped his younger brother, Jackie, on the night in question. He expired in the eighth round.

MAJOR LEAGUE STARS

PITCHING—Ruben Gomez, Giants, held Brooklyn to three hits in a 6-1 victory.

HITTING—Willie Mays, Giants, blasted two home runs, one his first grand slammer in the majors, and a single to drive in all the runs in 6-1 victory over Brooklyn.

15 Stitches Needed to Close Cuts

Ex-Champ Receives His Worst Beating On a Split Decision

BOSTON (AP)—Wallace (Bud) Smith, master of the short, slashing left hook, today is the new lightweight champion of the world.

Smith, the 26-year-old Cincinnati Negro, gave Jimmy Carter the worst beating of his career Wednesday night at Boston Garden but had no easy time in gaining a split decision in 15 blood-spattered rounds. It was the third time Carter has lost the lightweight crown.

No one could recall Carter ever being cut up as badly in his 98-bout professional life. The 31-year-old New Yorker required 15 stitches—nine over his right eye and six over his left—after appearing in his 11th title fight.

Stitches for Smith

The only time Carter ever was stopped was due to an eye cut in 1947 in a fight with Charley Lewis in Hartford, Conn.

Smith himself needed three stitches over his left eye.

Smith had sweet revenge for his 10-round loss by decision to Jimmy in his home town five years ago. Since then Smith has been fighting welters as well as lightweights for small purses.

Though Carter had the better of the early rounds as he made Smith miss wild punches while scoring, Smith tagged him enough to open a cut over his left eye. In the middle rounds he absorbed all the punishment Carter could dish out and kept up the left attack.

Telling Blows

The third phase in the late stages found Smith, a 4-1 underdog, slowing down Carter with telling blows though the game champion never let up his efforts.

Referee Mel Manning called it 147-140 for Smith. Judge Joe Healy had it 145-144 for Smith while Judge John Glynn dissented, 144-143 for Carter.

Smith weighed 154 and Carter 154½.

Fleck Considers Long Iron Play Among Strong Points

Second in a Series
NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Fleck, the new National Open golf champion, considers long iron play one of the main strengths of his game.

"Most of the tournament pros are experts with short irons and the twilight long iron players are in a minority," the Davenport, Iowa, professional said in diagnosing the game that beat the great Ben Hogan at San Francisco.

"That's easy to understand. The courses on the tour are laid out for the drive-and-wedge specialists and the phenomenal scoring comes from this formula—plus good putting."

Felt the Test

"But I feel that in major championships where courses are toughened, such as the Olympic Club course was for the recent open, then the long iron man will have a better chance."

Brilliant long iron play—backed up by steady nerves and a blast hot putter—carried Fleck to a surprise victory at San Francisco where he first tied Hogan and then beat the four-time champion in a playoff.

The 32-year-old Iowan said he felt the test of his long iron play was shown on the 220-yard, par-three third hole at Olympic Club—a tough downhill target which was missed about 80 per cent of the time.

Saved Strokes

"Did you know I was on that green in all five of my rounds in the tournament?" Fleck said. "It saved me a lot of strokes."

The open champion said his swing is fundamentally the same with all clubs—a chip-like stroke with a strong, wide follow-through.

"On my first round I thought I was playing the best golf possible from tee to green," he said. "Yet I came in with a 76. I was disgusted. I wondered to myself what a guy had to do to score."

"I knew my trouble—I wasn't putting. But later my putter caught fire and that was it."

Fleck had three rounds under par for the last four rounds he played. His 72-hole scores were 76-62-75-67—287 over the par 70 course. Then he won the 18-hole playoff against Hogan, firing a 69 to Hogan's 72.

Quincy Lad Wins Chicago Golf Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Walter Stevenson III, a 15-year-old Quincy, Ill., boy who failed to qualify last year, today reigned as the 1955 champion of the Chicago District Golf Assn. Open golf tournament.

The bespectacled Stevenson became the first youngster from outside the Chicago area to win the tourney Wednesday when he defeated Gerry Falona of Chicago, 3 and 1, at the South Shore Country Club.

In the morning semi-finals Wednesday Stevenson had advanced with a 5 and a triumph over Tommy Sisolak of Waukegan. Falona gained the finals by defeating Bill Heppes of Oak Park, 1-up.

Golf Notes

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Two Californians, a stroke apart, led a field of 39 par-crackers and 53 other golfers into the second round of the $15,000 Brush Columbia Open today.

Setting the pace was 29-year-old Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, who battered the par-72 Shaughnessy course Wednesday with a 65.

Right behind him, at 66, was Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif.

Finishers at 67 were Tommy Bolt of Houston, Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Marty Furgol, No. 3 money winner last year.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A pair of tested pros—Louise Suggs and Patty Berg—step into the opening round of the third annual Women's National Open golf tournament today as co-favorites.

Miss Suggs is the leading money winner for 16 tournaments this year and Miss Berg is No. 2 in earnings.

Babe Zaharias, the 1954 champion, is missing this year's meet because of an operation.

Detroit Raps Sox, 8-2, on 5-Run First

Yankees Sweep 2 From Baltimore; Cubs Beaten, 14-1

By the Associated Press
The second place Chicago White Sox looked to be on their way out of the American League title race as they dropped their fourth straight to Detroit 8-2 Wednesday. Third place Cleveland suffered another jolt in a 12-4 pasting by Kansas City.

New York, meanwhile, clobbered Baltimore twice, 9-2 and 7-3, to strengthen its hold on first place while Boston continued its steady victory diet with a 6-3 success at Washington.

The Yanks, who have won 10 of their last 11 (only half of them against the second division), now are five games up on the second-place White Sox and seven ahead of the Tribe. Detroit is only three behind the Indians, and the Red Sox, who have won 19 of 23, are just half a game farther back.

1st Grand Slam
In the National, crippled Brooklyn was shattered by a revived Willie Mays as the New York Giants reclaimed fourth place with a 6-1 victory. Mays, shaking his slump, drove in all six runs against the first-place Dodgers, who have lost power guy Roy Campanella with a knee injury.

Milwaukee drew to within half a game of second-place Chicago by pelting the Cubs 14-1. Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 6-3 and St. Louis rapped Cincinnati 9-5 as Stan Musial reached the 2,500-hit mark.

The Tigers smacked the White Sox quick and had to win their fifth game in six starts. Five straight hits, including Al Kaline's three-run homer, made for a five-run first inning that chased Harry Byrd and got Billy Hoelt started on his eighth victory.

Feller Loses
Cleveland lost its fourth in six games as Gus Zernial and Harry Simpson homered home four runs in the A's 16-hit barrage against loser Bob Feller and three relievers. Bobby Shantz won it with help from Tom Morgan.

The Yanks rolled on as Bob Turley became the fourth AL pitcher to win 10 this season in the opener. Gil McDougald got a four-run seventh under way with a two-run triple in the nightcap, won by Tom Morgan.

Boston breezed against the Nats, getting 13 hits in support of Ike Delock, who went all the way for his sixth victory. Billy Goodman tripled, doubled and singled in the Bosox attack.

Aaron Belts Two
A single and two home runs by Mays—one his first major league grand slammer—shook up the Dodgers, who got only three hits off Ruben Gomez.

Hank Aaron belted two home runs and Ed Mathews and Joe Adcock one each as Milwaukee and Lew Burdette downed the Cubs. Hank Sauer homered for the lone Chicago run. Howie Pollet suffered his first defeat.

Musial Raps Out 2,500th Hit; Sets Sights on 3,000 Mark

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan, the Man Musial, whose name is inscribed in most of baseball's batting records, reached the 2,500-hit milestone in his brilliant career and then set his sights on 3,000 more.

Stan Musial

The St. Louis Cardinals' veteran outfielder - infielder slammed a single and two-run homer Wednesday night off Cincinnati pitcher Rudy Minarcin for hits No. 2499 and 2500.

Stan, now in his 13th full season with the Cardinals, before the game said quietly to a photographer: "I'm going to do it tonight."

Only 36 other major league players have passed the 2,500-hit mark during their careers and there have been only seven who've made it past the number 3,000.

"The last 500 will be the toughest," Musial said, indicating he has that goal in mind. The 34-year-old Musial, who draws down a salary of $80,000-a-year, acknowledged he is running out of time as a topflight player.

"I should get another 100 hits this season," he said, and added that if he can average about 180 hits the next three years the 3,000-goal will be reached.

Kaline Nonchalant Over Status As Major Leagues' Top Hitter

CHICAGO (AP)—With the wonderful nonchalance of youth, 20-year-old Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers today shrugged off his phenomenal status as the best hitter in the major leagues.

"I'm meeting the ball well and hitting it solidly," said outfielder Kaline, whose three-run homer Wednesday in the first inning was all the Tigers needed to scuttle the second-place White Sox in an eventual 8-2 victory.

Kaline is in the same category as Mel Ott, Ted Lyons and Frankie Frisch, who needed no minor league seasoning to make the big league grade.

After his No. 14 homer Wednesday, day, Kaline rapped two singles to become the season's first hitter in either league to belt 100 hits. His 101 blows in 273 trips gave him a .370 percentage, well ahead in either league.

Al Kaline

In addition, he is tied for the triple lead in the American loop with 53; close to the top in RBI's with 53; and third in runs scored with 56.

Kaline, signed by the Tigers out of Baltimore's South High School, joined Detroit in 1953 and gained regular status last season when he batted .276. The story goes that an official of the Washington Senators had decided that Kaline could never hit major league pitching.

The Tigers signed him for $30,000, bonus and salary, running from 1953 through 1955, with an option for a salary raise for 1955. Kaline is said to have talked himself up to a straight salary of $10,000 for this year.

Digging Divots

Although several Lincoln Highway tournament golfers were out testing the Plum Hollow course yesterday in preparation for the July 9-10 tournament there, only four players were able to break 40 over the par 34 layout.

Arch Sample, who will represent Dixon Country club, turned in the best nine-hole round, a 36, while Frank Lesser and Ned Sack, both Plum Hollow entries, fired 37s. Len Johnson had a 39 to round out the under-40 scorers.

More than 30 golfers were on hand for the regular men's night session.

SPORTS VISITORS WHAT'S THE SCORE

KISHWAUKEE COUNTRY CLUB of DeKalb sponsored and won its own invitational tournament Wednesday. The three-man team event was based on handicap.

But the big individual prize on gross score, went to Ransom Bricker of Aurora who fired a 71-69-140.

DIXON AND OREGON both sent two men to the event but they didn't fare well. Ken Detweiler of Dixon went out in 79 and came back in 75 for a 154 total, while Doc McGraham had an 87-77-164. Jim Lamb of Oregon had a 76-73-149, and Joe Reid had a 78-79-157.

Kishwaukee won the team title with an even 400 net total while Pine Hills of Ottawa was second with 416. Emerald Hill of Sterling was third, Aurora was fourth and Sycamore was fifth.

DONALD F. ROSS of FAIRVIEW has been hired as athletic director at Prophetstown high school for next year, replacing Robert Walther who resigned. Ross taught at Ellisville high school last year. He is a graduate of Western State Teachers college at Macomb.

PLANS ARE COMPLETE FOR THE FIRST special colt harness racing at Oregon fairgrounds Sunday. The only problem facing the Oregon group is how many heats and preliminary races will have to be held.

Ernie Landers reported that 64 entries had been submitted with the deadline for final entry set for Saturday. Landers estimates that preliminary races will have to be run in some of the events.

TROPHIES TO THE WINNERS will be presented in the 2-year-old trot, the 2-year-old pace, the 3-year-old trot and the 3-year-old pace.

Two heats will be held for each race with the winner being determined by the horse that finishes a combined best in both races.

THE PRELIMINARY HEATS would be held to reduce the number of entries to a workable field for the final two heats.

The racing program is slated to start at 1:30 p. m. and the Dixon State School band will furnish between race music.

IRA RUTT of DIXON will be the starter and a contingent of Chicago Downs men will officiate at the races.

Many local colts are expected to go to the starting gate for the first day of racing at Oregon not connected with the annual Ogle county fair.

Advise Campy To Take Rest

BROOKLYN (AP)—Roy Campanella, who was supposed to have a knee fracture, but doesn't, may be back in the Brooklyn Dodger lineup sooner than the July 15 date predicted for him.

After two diagnoses which showed "an incomplete fracture which will necessitate an incision for removal," the doctors finally decided that "the injury is an old one which will heal with rest."

The first diagnosis, taken from the wet X-ray plates, indicated a break. The second, made after the plates had dried, showed only a bone spur.

The doctors' third report decided against surgery and advised that all the slugging catcher needs is about 10 days rest.

Mendota Woman Out in State Golf

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Defending champion Ruth More of Pekin and Greta Leone of Chicago's St. Andrews Club opposed each other today in the semi-finals of the 22nd annual Illinois Women's Golf tournament at the Champaign Country Club.

Miss More, seeking her fifth state title, defeated Mrs. Diane Parcells of Naperville, 1-up in 19 holes. Miss Leone advanced by eliminating June Anderson of Mendota, 4 and 3.

Housewife Has Habit of Bad Check Writing

DETROIT (P)—Mrs. Margaret Hamilton 37, has been writing bad checks for some time but no one wanted to prosecute her because she has 15 children, police said.

Police reluctantly charged her Wednesday with writing a worthless $40 check to buy groceries.

Lt. Walter Chlopan of the bogus check detail said he had warned her that "next time he would prosecute."

Her husband Charles 38, a plant worker who makes between $6,000 and $7,000 a year, said, "Margaret is the kind of a mother that just won't let her children lack for anything." He estimated his wife's penchant for writing checks had cost him $3,000 in the past 10 years.

NOISY WELCOME

BARDSTOWN Ky. (P)—When a visitor rattled the door of a hardware store the burglar alarm sounded, and police and spectators came running. Then the town's fire siren began screaming.

The fellow had a bad case of jitters until it was explained that the burglar alarm had gone off accidentally and that the siren just happened to sound at that time.

SOMETHING TO MOO ABOUT—This Holstein cow is a real producer. Owned by Kenneth Welkers of Pearl City, Ill., she recently produced the quadruplets shown above. Such births are said to occur only once in about 10,000,000 times. Previously, she's given birth to a single calf and to twins, in that order.

Auto Industry Winds Up Its Biggest Six Months

Greatest Sales Effort Sets Dozens of Records

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (P)—The auto industry today winds up the biggest six months in its history. Dozens of new records set since Jan. 1 attest to the hottest competitive effort in production and sales the car makers ever have known.

Final figures will show a January-June output of close to 4 1/2 million passenger cars. Retail deliveries are estimated at more than 3 1/2 million. Dealer inventory now are estimated at around 500,000 cars.

Retail sales, of course, include part of the 350,000 cars on hand Jan. 1. Something like 155,000 units of this year's output were shipped to foreign markets.

Other Records

Besides new records in assembly volume, retail sales and dealer stocks, new high marks were made by most individual car makers both in output and retail deliveries.

Aside from record smashing production, the outstanding single development of this year's first six months obviously was the jobless pay program agreed upon between the CIO United Auto Workers and Ford and General Motors.

The history-making program, expected to be extended within the next month to Chrysler Corp., undoubtedly averted a strike that could have been more paralyzing than were the sit-downs of nearly two decades ago.

Will Expand

Also marking the first half of 1955 were announcements of expansion programs involving additional expenditures of 625 million dollars by Ford Motor Co. and 500 million dollars by General Motors, and substantial progress by Chrysler in its 250-million-dollar comeback program.

For Ford the additional expansion fund brought its total postwar investment for this purpose to $2,225,000,000; the GM addition brought its postwar total to four billion. Chrysler which took slightly less than 13 per cent of the 1954 car market has boosted this to an estimated 19 per cent so far in 1955.

See Full-Year Record

Ahead of the industry now lies a virtually certain full year record in production—and probably in sales, too. Fewer than 2 1/2 million more car completions are needed in the next six months to set a new full year record.

Not quite so easy is the prospect for the industry's 42,000 or more new car retailers. Through the peak of their selling season they had to slash prices to achieve volume. Some have sold new cars at only a nominal markup, to used car dealers to ease the pressure of huge inventories. Others have given unprecedented allowances on used cars offered as down payment on new ones.

Some sources say that despite indicated increases in wholesale prices the retailers will have to continue high trade-in allowances and price discounting to keep up with factory output during the coming six months.

He Retires to The Same Job

CHICAGO (P)—Karl P. Schmidt will retire today—to take a full-time job at the same place.

He is chief curator of zoology in the Chicago Natural History museum and has been a member of the museum staff for 23 years.

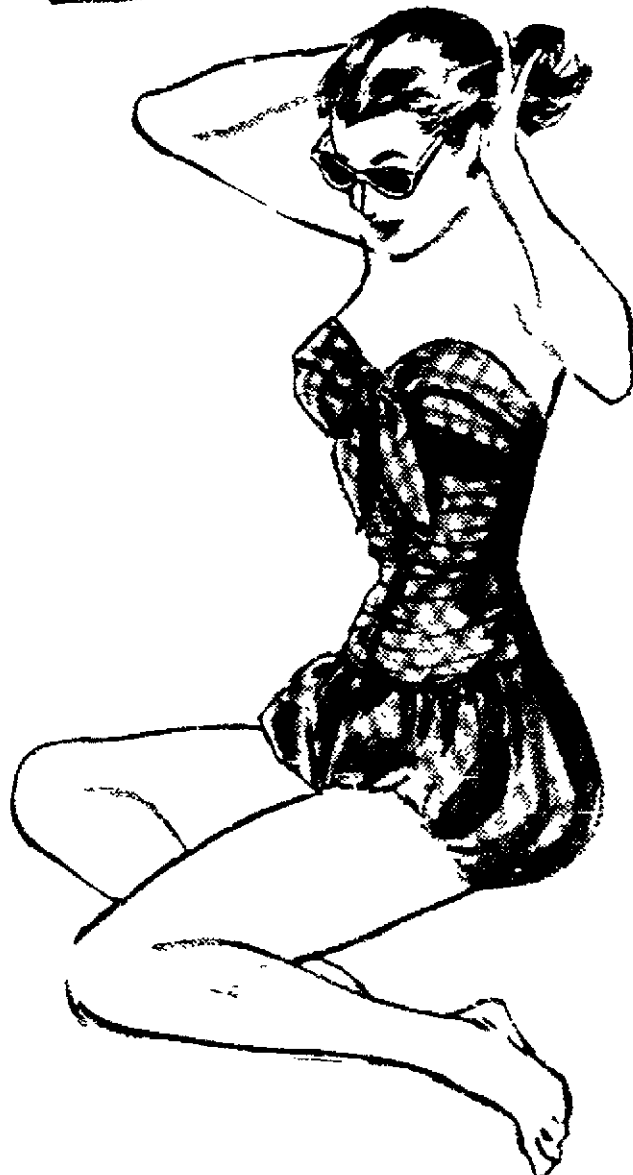

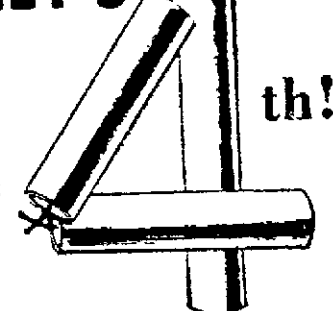

In retirement he will drop all administrative duties and devote his time to research on reptiles and amphibious animals.

Electric Gadget Licks the Pesky Charcoal Problem

COOKOUTS MADE EASY. New electric gadget above starts charcoal briques glowing in a minute.

Disk Jockeys Talk Way Into Top Tax Rung

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP)—The advent of television has forced many performers to seek a livelihood elsewhere, but not the disk jockeys. They've never had it so good.

With radio shifting strongly to music and news to combat TV, a good disk jockey on a good station can earn a yearly stipend that would make a bank president envious—as well as many a TV actor.

New York and other large cities represent the upper end of the scale of course, but one local disk jockey duo recently signed a five-year contract for a total of $500,000. Others are said to be doing as well, and two or three possibly a good deal better.

The dick jockey, or deejay as he is called in the trade, formerly was strictly on a local station basis, but of late the radio networks have been raiding independent stations for talent.

Fred Darwin, deejay on independent radio station WPAI that covers the metropolitan New York area, cites Fred Robbins on CBS, Martin Block on ABC, Bill Randle and Al Collins on NBC as examples. All formerly did their platter chatter for local stations.

Darwin, who also heads a school for would-be disk jockeys, says there are 300 to 400 around the country who are in the blue chips and 2,000 more who double as announcers and make a pretty good living.

"A top flight disk jockey is good for $40,000 to $50,000 a year in a major market," he says, "but as in anything else they're scaled all the way down to $100 a week."

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Cookouts are now everybody's summertime business. Charcoal broiled foods have given the men an opportunity to assert themselves again. And now the last drawback to outdoor cookery—the danger and mess in getting a good fire started—has been eliminated.

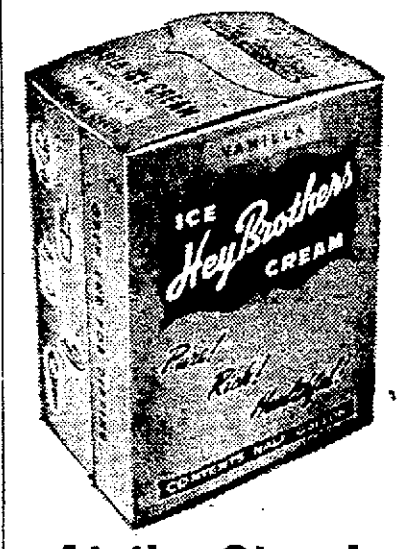

A manufacturer of cookout barbecue equipment has an electric fire-o-matic gadget attached to the grill. With a flick of the switch it starts the charcoal briques glowing in a minute. This electric gadget can be purchased separately and attached to old grills. It would make a de luxe present for a Fourth of July weekend hostess.

Here are easy hints on how to marinate chicken for charcoal broiling.

MOVIE THREAT—Meet Elsa Martinelli, latest Hollywood import from Italy. The former model's backers expect her to reverse the trend away from cool, polite heroines.

Latest Version of Divorce 'Cool Off' Plan Passes Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The latest version of the 60-day cooling off plan in divorce cases was approved 23 to 7 Wednesday by the Illinois Senate. It goes to the governor.

The legislation, designed to promote reconciliations when break-up of a family home threatens, attempts to overcome constitutional objections found by the Supreme Court with a similar 1953 enactment.

Conflicting statements were made about the probability of success.

The bills provide that filing of suits for divorce or separate maintenance would have to be deferred for the waiting period to give an opportunity for adjustment of marital differences.

The Senate also passed a House-approved bill to prohibit sale to persons under 18 of comic books devoted primarily to crime, sex or violence.

Meals in Package Are Good For a Cookout on Fourth

FOR FOURTH OF JULY COOKOUT, these boys voted 100 per cent for grilled meals in aluminum foil package.

By GAYLOR MADDOX

A cookout party in Rockville Center, L. I., at the home of Eleanor Lynch gave us ideas for a gala 4th of July backyard party. Easy, delicious, free of fuss. The youngsters will relish eating their entire meal out of one aluminum foil package.

All the foods are placed on the outdoor table. The fun begins when every one gathers around the table and selects his own combination meal in a package. Squares of meat, cut aluminum foil are ready and each person places his selection in the center, spoons on barbecue sauce, butter and lemon juice and seasonings to taste. Each is sealed tight in the foil and placed on the grill.

Chopped Steak in Foil Dinner. Prepare good size patties from well-seasoned chopped chuck or round. Have ready large squares of aluminum foil. Place each in center of square and add 2 slices of sweet onion half a fresh tomato, quartered. A spoonful of green pepper, tips and a generous service of frozen lima or any frozen vegetable you like. Season and add a pat of butter. No additional liquid needed. Seal into a package and place on grill over medium hot fire and cook about 30 minutes, turning once with tongs. Eat right from the foil.

Chicken Bundles. Have chicken cut in serving size pieces, with thighs separated from drumsticks, breast cut in two servings, etc. Pull out small protruding sharp bones. Rinse and dry. Have ready large squares heavy duty aluminum foil (about 14 by 14 inches). Place enough chicken for one serving, skin side down in center of each square. Add one or more servings of quartered sweet or white potatoes, sliced sweet onions or small white ones, zucchini, sliced asparagus cut in short lengths, mushrooms, frozen succotash, butternut squash, peeled and cut in chunks. is wonderful when in season.

Season everything well with freshly ground pepper, herbs and salt. Spoon on about 2 tablespoons barbecue sauce or 1 tablespoon lemon juice and pat of butter. Bring foil up over food and seal all edges with a double fold to make a tight package. Place on grill over a medium hot fire and cook about 45 minutes, turning once or twice. It skin side of chicken is placed toward the fire first it will brown gently right through the foil. When done, place on paper plate and eat right from foil.

NO DELIVERY SERVICE! CANTON, Ohio, P.—Within a few hours after a woman reported that someone stole her radio, police proudly phoned her that they had caught the thief and recovered the radio. But it took a lot of arguing to get the woman to stop at the station for it. She told the detective in charge, "I didn't bring it up here and I can't see why I have to carry it back home."

Detasseling Work Will Begin Soon

About 125 boys and girls between 14 and 18 years of age from Dixon and vicinity will be needed to help in the work of detasseling hybrid corn for the Pioneer Seed Company, Ray T. Moyer, farm placement interviewer in the Rock Falls office of the Illinois State Employment Service, reported today. Transportation will be furnished by bus to and from the fields each day, and boys and girls will be under supervision at all times, Moyer said.

The Dixon Evening Telegraph
Thursday, June 30, 1955
Page 18

This work will start around July 8, depending on the weather, and last from two to three weeks. These boys and girls will receive a fair rate of pay with an added bonus for those who stay until work is completed.

A notice will appear within the next two weeks stating the time when a representative from the Illinois State Employment Service, Rock Falls, will be at the Dixon Armory to register those for this work.

Consumer Attitude Will Be Business Indicator

Nation's Merchants Look to Record Year

EDITORS NOTE: With the business boom rolling in high gear, what's ahead for the last six months of 1955? There may be slight summer declines, but, barring serious labor trouble, good times are expected to continue and to make this year the greatest on record. In the following article, last of two, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, outlines what's ahead for the remainder of the year.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Prosperity seems set on sucking around for awhile. It may suffer a little from the heat. And serious labor strife could frighten it away for a time. Business, however, enters the second half of the year Friday, forecasting but a mild summer slump—and that only in the lines where it always appears—to be chased away in the fall by more of the same good times the nation now enjoys.

"New Plateau" The theory of the confident ones: The whole economy has moved up a notch to a "new plateau." There likely will be, as always, some ups and downs on the new terrain, but few indeed believe the business cycle has been completely licked. But there will be no turning back to former standards and measurements. Wages are rising. Take home pay is at a record high. And the pressure for higher wage scales is expected to increase. This would mean more spending money for workers, as long as factories continue on busy schedules. It also means higher costs for manufacturers and suppliers of basic materials. And at midyear the big debate in business is how much of this greater cost will be passed along in higher prices for materials and higher list prices for manufactured goods.

Living Costs Steady The cost of living, nevertheless, is expected to show little change in the next six months. The price of food may ease a little more to offset any rise in manufactured goods.

Productivity is expected to keep on rising in the second half of the year—that is, new equipment in modern plants will continue to mean more goods turned out per man hour, offsetting costlier labor, at least in part.

Industrialists' report plans to expand their plants further, to hire more workers to turn out more goods. Retail spokesmen estimate that sales will total a record 175 billion dollars this year, a gain of four per cent over 1954. Together these spell out: A rising standard of living for America's growing population.

Consumer to Decide The consumer will decide whether this comes about on schedule. He has more money to spend than ever before. How he spends it, what type of goods he turns to—or whether he decides instead to pay up his debts, or maybe to start saving more again—will determine how good the second half will be for business.

Now that government purchases for defense have leveled off, consumer buying will be the determining factor in the economy. But business buying also will spark the economy the rest of the year.

Tag Beef as Outstanding Food Buy

By The Associated Press

Pre-cooked ham and roasting turkey probably are the outstanding buys you'll find this week at your neighborhood store.

There are other interesting main course items you can buy without putting too big a dent in the family budget. One suggestion: Roast leg of lamb. Spring lambs are coming to market in greater volume now and prices are lower. One major food chain has cut its prices as much as 10 cents a pound.

Chickens for frying or broiling are even a better buy than they were a week ago, but beef is the U. S. Agriculture Department's "food headline" for this week. That means it's officially tagged as an outstanding value.

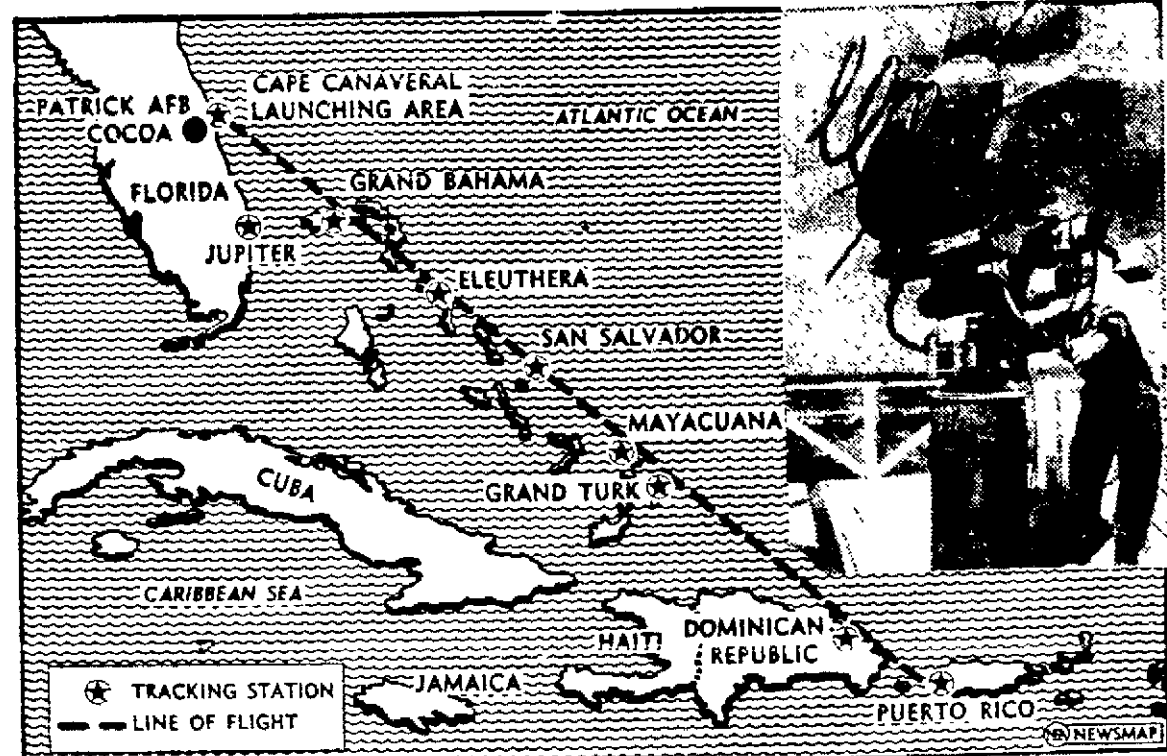

Pork prices, long in the stratosphere, should soon start coming down. More than 60 million piglets were born in the six months ended June 1—a gain of 9 per cent over the comparable year-ago period and the highest birth rate since 1951. That will mean lots of hogs coming to market four or five months from now. Some big supermarket chains are trimming prices right now. One slashed its price of center cut pork chops 6 cents a pound this week in Washington, D. C. 10 cents in Jacksonville, Fla., and 8 cents in New York.

Best buys in produce this week include beans, beets, cabbage, lettuce, peppers, endive, escarole, radishes and green and yellow onions.

FREE LAKE

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP)—The lake on a farm near here probably will be drying up. For years, it was believed an underground spring fed the lake. But recently workers replacing an old water line discovered the lake's true source:

A hole had been drilled in the pipe to assure an ample and free supply of water.

U.S. HAS WORLD'S LONGEST GUIDED MISSILE RANGE — Final tests of nearly every guided missile developed in this country are made at the Air Force Missile Test Center on Cape Canaveral, Fla., world's longest proving range, shown on Newsmap above. Missiles launched over the 1000-mile range pass over inhabited islands. But there is little or no danger of a missile going "haywire" and falling on a town. From take-off, they are tracked from instrumentation stations "haywire" by advanced radar, telemetry and other apparatus. If the missile goes off course, it is instantly exploded in mid-air by remote control. Among the weird-looking instruments spotted along the range is the Mark 51 Telemetry Director, shown in inset. It receives automatically-transmitted radio impulses from the missile itself, transferring complete, detailed flight data to magnetic tape. At end of test, the tape is played back for study and analysis.

Grilled Appetizers Are Tops for July 4th Party

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Little appetizers, cooked briefly over the outdoor grill, will make your 4th of July get-together even more successful. We picked up these ideas from Greenwich, Conn. Lynn Farnol, a gourmet, invented them to make over his new cookout grill with its electric gadget that starts the charcoal bricks glowing with the mere flick of a switch.

Beef habachi are popular cocktail snacks in Hawaii and on the Pacific Coast. Cut tender sirloin or good rump steak into 1½-inch strips, then cut each strip into paper-thin slices. Marinate in sauce for about 2 hours and string on skewers. Keep the meat over charcoal fire for seconds only, until the edges curl slightly and the meat is crisp and glazed.

Serve plenty of thin slices of buttered bread—rye, French, pumpernickel or Armenian bread—and the bits of meat can be slipped off the skewers onto it. Pass bowls of hot mustard and Chinese sweet and sour sauce for condiments.

For a hibachi marinade, blend together cup of soy sauce, 2 garlic cloves, chopped; 2 tablespoons of grated fresh ginger (or substitute candied ginger from which the sugar has been washed); 1 cup of brown sugar and ½ cup of sherry or 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice.

Expert Sees Little Fall in Farm Income

URBANA-CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—IN 1955, per capita income for farmers will probably not drop significantly, if at all, a Purdue agricultural economist predicted Tuesday.

The reason: The rapid farm-to-city movement in the past few years may be expected to continue and the lower total farm income anticipated will be shared by fewer farmers, according to Prof. Lowell S. Hardin of Purdue University.

He presented his ideas in the Illinois Business Review, monthly publication of the University of Illinois Bureau of Economic and Business Research.

Prof. Hardin also points out that a fourth of the net income of the farm population comes from non-agriculture, sources not affected by decreased farm prices. With income and employment in the nonfarm economy expanding rapidly this year, improved opportunities exist for farmers to supplement their income from these sources, he believes.

Capital investment—in trucks, tractors, milking machines, grain combines, compactors, and other farm machinery—now amounts to about $11,000 per farm worker, according to the Purdue economist. He expects, with labor costs rising, continued substitution of these capital items for labor and continued use by the farmer of purchased production items.

Prof. Hardin sees the farmer's financial position as still strong—by comparison with anything but the postwar peaks. He notes that real estate in the Midwest has been much stronger than in other parts of the nation, reflecting a combination of farmer confidence, rising productivity through technology and larger farms, and somewhat easier borrowing terms.

House Okays Co. Building Commissions

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—By a vote of 117 to 15, the Illinois House Wednesday passed bills to provide for establishment of county public building commissions empowered to acquire or construct public buildings.

Sponsors said the legislation for the new agencies, which could be created by the governing authority of any county seat, was intended to pave the way for the Fort Dearborn project.

The Fort Dearborn project calls for clearing of a large area on the north bank of the Chicago River and construction of a civic center with several public buildings, as well as housing.

Rep. Alan Dixon (D-Bellefonte) assailed the bills as an excessive grant of authority to the proposed new agency. He said that in effect the legislation authorizes imposition of new taxes without referendum.

This was a reference to the provisions for retirement of bonds the commissions could issue. The bonds would be retired from rentals "paid to the commissions, out of tax funds, by public groups contracting for space in any commission-financed building.

The House also approved, and sent to the governor, a bill for a $10,000 legislative commission to study the social and economic impact that peacetime use of atomic power may have on the state, and report to the 1957 General Assembly.

The House killed a bill to empower local liquor commissions to suspend a tavern license from 30 to 90 days for liquor law violations, and two measures to provide for city zoning in to 1½ mile outside city boundaries.

REPORTER MAKES NEWS

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—A House committee reported favorably on a local bill after some unsolicited and unofficial help from a newspaper reporter.

Reporter Lynn Nisbet moved for a favorable report on a bill providing for open meetings of all municipal council meetings at Statesville.

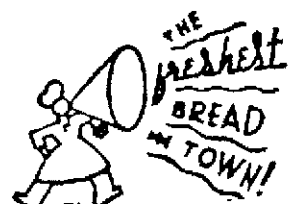

Before anybody realized the motion came from a nonmember it had been seconded and the favorable report recorded by unanimous vote.

LIVING TOGETHER AND LIKING IT—The Birnbaums and the Battermans of Cleveland, Ohio, have proved that two related couples can live in the same house for 37 years—and be happy. "It can be done—if you give and take." That's the formula that's kept them together for so long. They divide all the household chores, eat the same meals and get along fine. "If any disagreement comes up we immediately sit down and talk it over. After you talk about a thing it always seems to take care of itself." Above, from left, are Mrs. Louise Batterman, Christian Birnbaum, Mrs. Wilhelmina Birnbaum and Frederick Batterman, who is Mrs. Birnbaum's brother. They're admiring bread baked by Mrs. Birnbaum.

Dome Dream Comes True With 'Pneumatic' Bricks

Inventors See Use for Air-Conditioned Cities

URBANA, Ill. (P)—The engineering dream of weather conditioning entire communities by means of an air-tight dome has moved a step nearer reality with the invention of "pneumatic bricks."

The new super lightweight building material was developed by Prof. Ambrose C. Richardson of the University of Illinois architecture department, and Maj. George W. McCauley of the U.S. Air Force.

The bricks are triangular plastic pillows about three feet long and four inches wide. Air pressure of only two pounds keeps them firm. They can be built into almost any arch-shaped structure, because of their extreme light weight.

Newest Plastics

If made from the newest plastics, such as polycarbonate mylar, their walls need be only half as thick as a human hair.

The material is the outgrowth of an earlier idea by Prof. Richardson for plastic pillows filled with helium and joined in domes.

McCauley developed the idea of shaping the plastic units as bricks which made the structure self-supporting, obviating the need for lighter-than-air helium. McCauley also devised interconnecting valves for quick inflation of an entire unit under pressure.

A unique feature of the valves is that any brick which springs a leak isolates itself when the air pressure drops below a minimum level.

McCauley, a World War II flier, said the new material could have numerous military and nonmilitary applications.

Could Be Shelter

It could provide a shelter for downed fliers in life rafts. A dome folding into a pack no larger than a parachute could be attached to a life raft, and inflated by the same container of compressed air now provided to inflate rafts alone.

It would provide protection from cold in Arctic regions, drawing heat from the radiant warmth of the sun in day. Units could be used for temporary barracks.

For peacetime uses, the inventors say such domes could be used as "greenhouses" covering entire fields and enabling farmers to grow several crops a year or could cover drive-in theaters, ball parks and stadiums.

The inventors have built a dome three feet high and six feet across, weighing 10 pounds. McCauley is seeking Air Force support for construction of larger models.

A university spokesman said no cost estimates have been worked out.

Salmon With Egg Sauce A Tradition

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Fourth of July dinner in every tradition-minded New England home consists of boiled salmon with egg sauce, new potatoes, fresh green peas, home-made "crispy" rolls, and old-fashioned strawberry shortcake.

Of course, for a large crowd at home a Yankee pot roast might be easier. For breakfast, how about red flannel hash. Both these dishes are traditionally New England, too.

The Agricultural Extension Service of the University of Connecticut, at Storrs, Conn., published "What's Cooking in New England" (Bulletin 454) belongs in every American home. Let's take a look inside.

Yankee Pot Roast

(Serves 6 and allows leftovers for another meal)

Four to 6 pounds beef (round or chuck), 1/2 cup flour, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup chopped salt pork or suet, 1 large onion, sliced, 2 or 3 sprigs of parsley, 1 bay leaf, 1 cup hot water (about), 6 potatoes, 6 carrots, 1 turnip (optional).

Dredge the meat with a mixture of the flour, salt and pepper. Heat the salt pork or suet in a heavy iron pot or Dutch oven. Brown the meat on all sides in the hot fat. Add the onion, parsley, bay leaf and enough water to cover the bottom of the pot. Cover and simmer until tender (about 3 to 4 hours), keeping about a cup of water under the meat. Add the prepared vegetables during the last hour of cooking. Serve the meat on a platter with the vegetables arranged around it. Thicken the gravy and add more seasonings to it if desired.

Variation: Cape Cod Pot Roast: After the meat has been browned, add 2 cups of cranberry sauce, 1/2 cup water, 4 whole cloves and 1-inch stick of cinnamon. Simmer until tender. Strain the liquid and thicken it for gravy.

KEY RAIDS

MUSKEGON, Mich. (P)—Thieves have raided parking meters by taking impressions of the locks and making their own keys.

Fourth of July Is the Day For Cooling Fruit Drinks

By GAYNOR MADDOX

The tinkle of ice and tinkle of glass of fresh fruit drinks will be a welcome sound over the 4th—a welcome sound on any hot day. Frozen concentrate for lemonade from California provides fine fresh flavor for these drinks and is so much easier than squeezing lemons.

Red Strawberries in Lemonade

Fresh strawberries, frozen concentrate for lemonade, cracked ice.

Make a pitcherful of lemonade by adding water according to the directions on the can of frozen concentrate. Wash and hull strawberries. Then, in tall glasses, layer the strawberries in cracked ice (this way they will stay floating in the glass and not sink). Fill glasses with lemonade and serve.

Raspberry Lemonade Crush (Individual Serving)

Two tablespoons mashed, sweetened raspberries, 2 tablespoons of crushed, concentrate for lemonade. Fill each glass with crushed ice and plain or sparkling water. Stir and serve immediately.

Lemonade and Grape Juice

Lemonade and grape juice have a real taste affinity. For a cool, refreshing summer drink, place 2 or 3 tablespoons frozen concentrate for lemonade in bottom of a tall glass; fill glass with grape juice and ice.

Tropical Punch (Yield: Slightly more than 1 quart)

One (6-ounce) can frozen concentrate for lemonade, 1 (6-ounce) can frozen pineapple juice, ice cubes, 1 tall bottle sparkling water.

Combine concentrate for lemonade with pineapple juice. Mix well; add ice cubes and sparkling water.

HE CAN'T EVEN SHIFT FOR HIMSELF—Michael Bird swears he's not guilty of any traffic violation. The two-and-a-half-month-old boy, who lives with his parents in Salt Lake City, Utah, got a letter charging him with juvenile delinquency arising from a driving citation. The letter warned his mother, Mrs. James M. Bird, shown above, that if she didn't bring Michael into court within two weeks he would get 30 days—which is almost half his age.

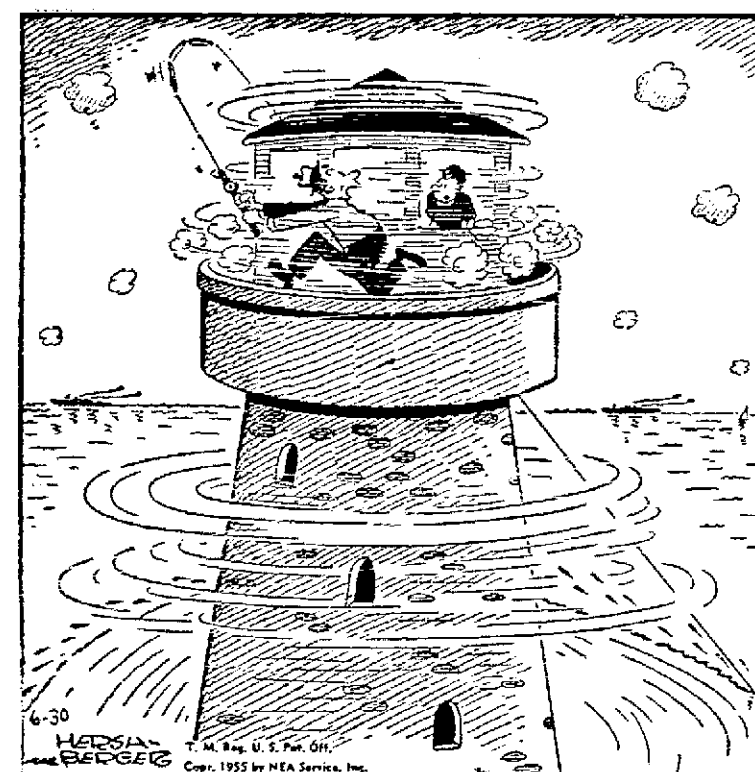

FREIGHT DERAILMENT—Airview shows part of the 106-car freight train derailed near Burlington, Wis. Most of the 38 cars which left the track were gondolas, many of which spilled loads of coke. Derailment took place on the Soo Line on a train bound from Chicago to Minneapolis. No one was injured. (AP wirephoto)

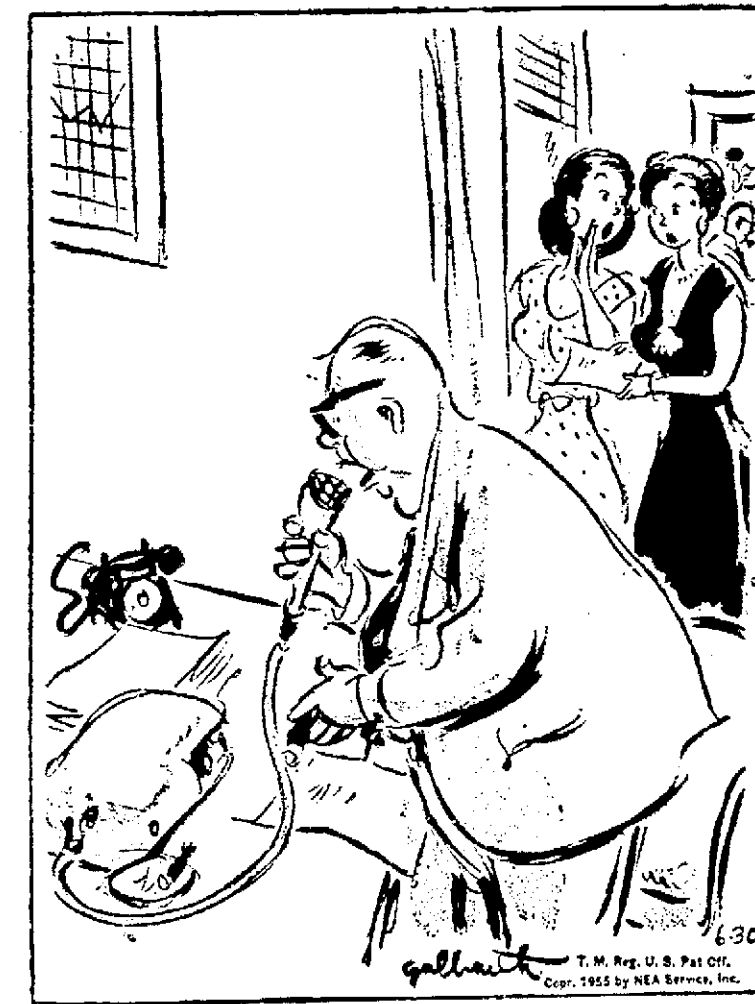

HE PAYS FOR BEING TOO GOOD—Patrolman Richard Kahl of Lombard, Ill., couldn't explain to the police chief why he gave parking meter tickets to motorists whose time had not run out. Then he found a boy, with a soft heart for car owners, dropping pennies into expired meters. Thomas Ponosko, 13, said he felt sorry for the ticketed motorists. Above, Kahl follows police magistrate's orders to punish Thomas by making him deposit into meters 200 pennies from his own allowance.

Canada Cuts Income Taxes Third Time

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — Canada's 2,800,000 taxpayers get a little more take-home pay starting Friday when a federal tax cut on personal incomes goes into operation.

The cut is small, roughly 10 per cent this year since only six months remain. But it is the government's third successive year of slipping levies in this field.

Federal authorities say it will keep Canadian taxes well below those paid in the United States.

They estimate, for example, that a single man earning $5,000 a year in Canada will pay $720 in federal income tax this year, while his American counterpart will pay $902.

A married man with two children, making the same money, will pay $450 in Canada and $504 in the United States. Both figures include old age security charges.

Danville Trio Held For Murder

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A man and two teen-age girls from Danville, Ill., have been indicted for first degree murder in the holdup slaying of a service station operator.

They are Jack Hunley, 26, Mrs. Lola Richards, 19, a divorcee, and Bonnie Mariage, 15, all of whom listed Danville as their home.

They were charged Wednesday with murder in the first degree, murder in perpetration of armed robbery and armed robbery in the slaying of Leslie K. Davis, 62, of Nashville.

They were arrested Tuesday in Owensboro, Ky., when they stopped to get medical attention for Hunley, who had bullet wounds in the arm and pelvis.

District Attorney J. Carlton Loefer said he plans to ask the death penalty for Hunley.

At first, Mrs. Richards told police Hunley had been shot by a hitchhiker. Later, she told officers she and Hunley got $51 in a holdup of Davis' service station and that the holdup ended in a gun battle between Hunley and Davis. She said the Mariage girl was asleep in the back seat of their car during the holdup.

Don't Let July 4th Picnic Fizzle

Homemade Table Decorations Start Things Off With Bang

By KAY SHERWOOD

Set up a brilliant display of star-spangled "fireworks" on the picnic table to keynote the glorious Fourth. A gala red, white and blue setting can dress up the splintery old table in the park as brightly as it does the new table in the back yard.

Our Fourth of July picnics usually are so well attended on a "share the work" basis that we stake out an early claim on space in the park. This year, a talented young friend of mine and I worked out an inexpensive but festive setting.

Red shelf paper, white plastic tape, blue sashen ribbon and gold stars are the materials needed. Place mats cut from red shelf paper (15x11 inches), take one strip of white tape on one side ornamented with four or five gold stars. If the wind is blowing, tape the mat to the table with cellulose tape.

For the centerpiece, a cake camouflaged as a drum is flanked by plastic cylinders trucked out to look like rockets. Lift off the rocket tops and you're ready to pass carrot strips, celery, cole slaw or whatever you choose to put in the cylinders. Red crockery or plastic bowls striped in white tape carry the theme.

To make the drum casing for the cake, double a piece of red shelf paper, cut wide enough to fit the height of the cake and long enough to tape around it. Stick white tape strips diagonally along the paper and tape bottom and top edges for the drum effect. A blue or gold star is stuck at each point. You can make a jaunty rocket for the top of the cake from a cylinder of shelf paper, taped or pasted together and rounded with a cone made from a circle of the same paper.

Plastic cylinders become rockets when they're rolled up in red paper which is taped to hold it in place. Straight strips of white plastic tape march around the cylinder to give the striped effect.

To make the top, cut a circle about an inch larger than the base of the cylinder. Heavy red paper or cardboard will do. Slash circle to the middle and overlap to form a cone.

A blue shower of stars sprouts from the top of the cone. Showers are simply made by cutting four strips of blue sashen ribbon about five inches long. Cut these strips down the middle to within an inch of one end. Tape strips together and stick a gold star on each fringed end. Poke the taped base of the fringe through a hole in the top of the cone.

A big explosion of applause can be expected from guests at sight of your Fourth of July picnic table. Drum-cake centerpiece and rocketsful of cole slaw and relish strips are easy to make from inexpensive material. At right, demonstrator shows how shooting stars for rocket tops are made.

State's Hotel Business Began With Chicago Lodging in 1800s

URBANA - CHAMPAGNE, Ill. — Illinois' great hotel industry, fourth largest in the nation, started in Chicago with a 60-foot lodging for "voyagers and Indians" adjoining the mansion of John Kinzie, according to the Illinois Business Review published Wednesday.

The monthly publication of the University's Bureau of Economic and Business Research mentions other early Illinois inns — the Hunter House in Alton, built in 1819, and the Rawling's House in Shawneetown constructed at about the same time.

Today, Illinois has more than 1,500 hotels, and Chicago, "convention center of the United States," has over 2,000 conventions scheduled for 1955.

Although rooms account for the major part of present hotel business, food and beverages have reached 46 per cent of hotel income and in many cases are keeping hotels in the black, the Review says.

In early days hotels were located in seaports and along stagecoach routes, later accessible to railroad stations. Since 1923, motels, conveniently situated for travellers by automobile, have bitten into hotel business, although this trend may be near an end. Any decline in the total market, however, will probably hit the more expensive hotel traffic harder than the motel, the Review notes.
